

Racing Toward the Beginning

In the beginning was God. And folks, we are racing toward “the beginning”. Now of course there is no beginning without an end. God visits the Earth once every 2000 years. This is the real God who is the creator and judge of us all. So put away all your make-believe religious gods and stop pretending ‘cause it is all about to come to an abrupt halt.

This is the last year of life as we knew it. Before the year is over, we all will be changed. That is, all that survive.

It is the end of a generation and God will make His appearance and plant the seeds for the next generation. But first He harvests what was sown 2000 years ago.

I write this so as all who read it can prepare as much as possible to meet the plum line that will measure your life and destroy all that is fake and phony.

Pray there is something in your life worth saving.

Thus far our measuring rod has been the law and other people who also are crooked.

Self is history. So if you are hanging onto your self you will go with it as it is nothing more than a seed that has to be planted and bear fruit or it dies.

The Lord’s prayer is about to be answered and with its fulfillment life as we know it is over.

God does answer prayers in His timing and not ours, and not the way we selfish little worms have interpreted it. God have mercy on us all.
