

I Am Thinking

I'm cooking here in my nice, cozy comfortable kitchen in Costa Mesa, California, and I am thinking:

- I am thinking about the people in cold Montana surrounded by a group who are supposed to be our servants... who will kill and ask questions later if Janet Reno gives the go ahead.

- I am thinking about the real terrorist being the governments. Like Pharaoh of old, the people are groaning under its tyranny... "Let My People Go." The only people who are not aware of our terrorist government are those yet not touched.

- I am thinking about all the "tears" shed for Oklahoma while the victims of the same or worse ruthless bombing in Waco and Ruby Ridge were either killed or arrested and sent to jail. No memorials, no nation mourning over them.

- I am thinking of the murderess Janet Reno and how her sin is justified, while if one of us committed the same heinous crime we would be indicted for being an accomplice to murder.

- I am thinking of how our government robs the people, takes their homes, their business, their health, yes, their livelihood, and how a large portion of America is so sound asleep they think all is fine. They say, "If you don't like it, go to another country." The mentality is that of Germany at the time they were marching to the drumbeat of Hitler.

- I am thinking of all the suicides and homeless and distraught because of the ruthless men of the IRS.

- I am thinking of all the money we poor suckers who work for a living pay into the monster that is out to destroy us... money being spent right now to keep up the watch on the Freeman. There are thousands of government employees that feed off us who work for a living, and they will kill thinking they are doing God a service.

- Yes, I am thinking about all these things, but I am also thinking God's vengeance toward our enemies is much more drastic than we can imagine, and He will come and avenge His people. He said, it is not by might, nor by power, but by His spirit that He will topple governments. His Spirit, when it moves, is not gentle but filled with wrath toward all who hate Him.

- I am thinking about how He encourages us by saying that no circumstance will overtake us that He will somehow make a way of escape (1 Corinthians. 10:30) that we may be able to bear it.

- I am thinking that if the Freeman in Montana did in fact default their brother, (the government makes up stories and codes to fit their excuse for bullying), it is better to make things right.

There are thousands standing and praying as the Freeman stand against odds that only God can deliver you from. God is still God — the perfect judge, and all will have to answer to Him. Let us gird our loins with truth, keep our lamps burning, and pray that we are holy and blameless in a very perverse and ruthless generation.

Marie Kolasinski