

Imagine

To all who love the truth, I come as a friend. But to those who choose to believe a lie, I'm afraid I am an enemy. We have been asked, "Are the Piecemakers a threat to the present system?" Let me answer this question with a question. Is light a threat to darkness?

We are in the beginning of the greatest spiritual battle since the beginning of time and I find it a bit disheartening to say the least, when I hear people twist the truth to match their carnal thinking.

Remember this: "For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty in God for the pulling down of strongholds; casting down all vain imaginations and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ; and being ready to punish all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled." (2 Corinthians 10:2)

The truth we believe, we speak, and our lives reflect it. The truth is our mighty weapon. For God has promised that our word would not come back void but would perform that which it is sent out to do. When God anoints His word it becomes more powerful than an atom bomb. Notice in the scripture He says our weapons will bring down every vain imagination so people can live in reality with peace reigning over their lives and their children, and bring unity among the people.

Now let us consider some of the imaginations we live in:

- We imagine we can run our lives without God.
- We imagine that this country is wealthy when the facts are: we have the greatest national debt of any country in the world; our natural resources are used up; the factories that made up the warp and woof of this country have all been silenced. This is reality. We get our needles from Japan because there is no needle factory in this country.

- We imagine that our government is working for us when the fact is the government has caused more heartache to more people than all our natural tragedies.

- We imagine that if we have met Christ and do all the right things we will get to heaven, when the fact is our natural man can never know God or enter His Kingdom .

- We imagine we are a nation under God. The fact is even the so-called church is not under the living God. They each have a god of their own imaginations. When we love the Lord with all our heart, mind, soul, strength and we are all of one mind, then perhaps we will be a nation under God.

- We imagine we are the chosen of God when in fact the Bible says that many are called but few are chosen. The price for being chosen is total death to self.

- We imagine we know more than God. The fact is our knowledge is a big pile of crap. The apostle Paul called it dung.

This is just a pinhead of our vain imaginations that keep us from living in reality. When God decided to destroy the earth in Noah's time, it was because we were all doing evil in our imaginations continually.

God has said, "Let there be light" and it has separated the real from the phony. Our true friends have been tried and tested and have stuck by us while we made our trek through the wilderness back to God our Father. Fine weather friends we do not need nor does God need. They are around when all goes well but bail fast when trouble comes along. Like parenting these days: if the kids are cloned, the parents love them, but let them be individuals formed by God and they are kicked out of the house. God is fed up with people and nations who want His blessings but still want their own wills, their own ways, their own rebellious lives.

Hang onto your hats and gird your loins for your life will not be the same one year from today.

Now for a word of encouragement to all who may lose their jobs. Most Mom and Pop businesses were started out of the losing of a job. They have found a new life of creativity. As God shakes this country and brings an old age to an end, whether you make it or not depends on the choices you make. Will you serve the living God or will you serve your own will? The choice will always be put right in our laps so we cannot blame someone else for the way our lives go.

“I will bless those who bless you and curse those who curse you,” says the Lord. We see people’s lives being changed radically because of their blessing us. Let us all strive for the unity of the faith but let us not compromise the truth, for only the truth will set us free so we can all worship Him in Spirit and in Truth.

We love you all with God’s love toward you. He is ever ready to heal, forgive and comfort all who turn to Him with a whole heart.

This message is from all the Piecemakers —
