Give Piecemakers a chance

Just a note on behalf of the Piecemakers' cause. America, are you in such stupor of fear that you don't know by God's grace we are saved, and if righteousness came by the law then Christ died in vain? The government has bewitched us with promises of safety. Wake up. Everyday people suffer, and the government is not able to stop it. Let us, who call ourselves Americans, trust in the One who laid the foundation for our Constitution and Bill of Rights — Jesus Christ.

God and country

I agree that sometimes there is too much legislation imposed on our daily business of living, but I have news for letter-writer Kerry Parker ["Give Piecemakers a chance," Jan. 19]. Jesus Christ did not lay the foundation for our Constitution and Bill of Rights. People wanting to ensure our freedom of choice did.

My money says, "In God We Trust." Which God? Here we get to pick one. My Constitution and Bill of Rights guarantees it. Are we in the same country?

Judgment will be upon us

I pray that the ignorance of letter-writer Maggie Fussell is not the norm for U.S. citizens ["God and country," Jan. 22]. Ignorance is a dangerous weapon. Ignorance crucified the very God who founded our country and created the ones who drew up our Constitution. "Forgive them Father for they know not what they do" will not hold water in the hour in which we live. Every knee will bow to Jesus Christ as Lord or perish.

Iraq is a good example of every knee having to bow, not to democracy, but to God or destruction. God is warning America: "Humble yourselves and turn back to me or I will destroy you as I am destroying Iraq."
