

This is my response to the Alex Reynoso article — one more government employee.

The thieves I am more afraid of are the politicians who can legally steal your money in taxes, fees, permits, fines - take exorbitant salaries, live off the fat of the land and the poor street people who steal to stay alive are warned against? Spare me!! Look who's calling the kettle black. Wake up Alex! God sees right through the hypocrite and cleverness of man.

Marie Kolasinski

P.S. Anarchy looks better all the time. You can at least shoot the thief legally.

Subject: See message below from LA County DA's office.

I just wanted to share some information. West Valley Detention as of today has released 50 inmates; not only West Valley, but also San Bernardino, and Riverside Counties. By the end of the month about 750 inmates are expected to be released. They are counting on it to save the state millions of dollars.

I was warned to make sure I'm aware of my surroundings at all times. Make sure you lock your doors to your house and cars. Don't walk out at night by yourself. When leaving your house, get in your car, lock the doors, and start it before you open your garage door.

They are expecting a lot of things to happen since these people need money and won't be able to find a job. Share this info with your kids so they are aware, esp. those who walk to and from school. Tell them to walk against traffic so they are aware of cars in front of them. Share this with your family and friends. Everyone be safe and be cautious.